WILL ENFORCE STATE WEED CUTTING LAW IN FAYETTE COUNTY

Grand Jury Threatens to Indict Fiscal Court If Weeds Along Pikes Are Not Cut Under State Law.

The Fayette county grand jury is going to indict the Fayette fiscal court. At least, that was the threat made to County Judge F. A. Bullock. The cause of the grand jury's ire is the abundant growth of weeds along the country roads. Such a condition, it was pointed out, is a direct violation of section 2, chapter 169 Kentucky Road Laws, which reads as follows:

"The brush, bushes, weeds, overhanging limbs of trees and all other obstructions along the highways of the several counties of this Commonwealth are to be removed there from between the first day of July and the twentieth day of August of every year."

Section 3 provides that every person who violates the provision of this act by failure to perform the duties as required shall, on conviction, be fined in the sum of not less than $20 and not more than $50.

The county road engineer is required to publish a notice to this effect, which he did, but the weeds are still tall and uncult—at least that is the grand jury's allegation.

If affairs get any worse, it was stated the magistrates would have several farmers in their courts to answer for their flagrant violation of the law, which no one seemed to know anything about until the grand jury got busy.

Judge Bullock says the law provides the weeds must be cut before August 20, which allows some time yet, although no steps have been taken.

In Mason county the attention that should be given this very necessary work has not been given, but our farmers have been entirely too busy in their crops. It is expected however, that all weeds and brush will be removed before August 20.

Mr. B. J. Sandman, advanced man for the series of free Chautauquas being given over the state through the joint co-operation of the Louisville Board of Trade and the Kentucky Bankers' Association, was in Maysville Wednesday to make final arrangements for the big Chautauqua to be given for the benefit of Mason county farmers and in conference with County Agent George Kirk and the local committee, the dates for the Mason county meeting were fixed for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 11, 12 and 13 and the place Beechwood Park, Maysville.

Mr. Sandman reported that the meetings thus far held have been wonderfully successful in every respect. The audience has been fine, the speakers the best obtainable and the results have been very satisfactory.

These meetings are being held primarily for the benefit of the farmers of the state and the two organizations behind the movement have gone to considerable expense to make the meetings a go. Some of the best known men and women in the state and in governmental service have been obtained for the addresses and there is also a musical feature and moving pictures every session.

Among the speakers procured, some, if not all of whom, will speak at the Maysville Chautauqua are, Geoffrey Morgan, Dr. J. J. Hooper, President McVey, of Kentucky University, Dr. E. Y. Mullins, President of the Baptist Theological Seminary, Rev. Father John F. Kune, a mountain priest who has gained fame by becoming through his mountain church, a leader of an ideal community. Dr. Frances Sage Bradley, one of the nation's most wonderful women, head of the Children's Bureau at Washington, who delivers her great lecture on "Better Babies" and who should be heard by every mother in Mason county. Besides these Rodman Wiley, State Commissioner of Roads, speakers on "Good Roads" and A. T. Benson, represents the Boy Scout organization.

At the same time the Maysville Chautauqua is in session there will be another in session at Tatesboro for Lewis county farmers and at Brooksville for Bracken county farmers. The talent coming from Brooksville and going on from here to Tatesboro.

A large tent which will accommodate between 700 and 800 people will be erected at Beechwood park and will be lighted by electricity. There will be two sessions a day, the afternoon and evening, and admission to all sessions will be absolutely free.

The dates should be remembered and every farmer, his wife, sons and daughters, should take this wonderful opportunity to hear these great men this beautiful music and to see the high class educational pictures absolutely free of all charges.

SCHOOL CENSUS THIS YEAR BROUGHT CITY GOODLY SUM

Through Taking Special Census City Schools Gain $689.30—Increased Per Capita Brings City $1200 More Than Last Year.

State Superintendent of Schools Gilbert's placing the school per capita for this year at $6.10 means that the Maysville Schools will receive from the state fund this year $7,551.80 or approximately $1200 more than was received by local schools last year.

Figuring on the number of students found in a special census taken this year over the number of students reported to the state last year, the city schools have gained the sum of $689.30 which they would not have had if the special census had not been taken.

This was not the regular year for the taking of the school census and ordinarily it would have not been taken but Superintendent Caplinger saw that city finances would probably be low and felt that there had been an increase in the school population and elected to take the special census.

Prof. Caplinger is to be congratulated upon the business foresight displayed in taking this special census.

REVENUE MEN AFTER TRUCK DRIVERS

An interim revenue man has been here this week and last looking up unpaid Federal license on autos which haul passengers. A number of truck owners have been caught, and will be required to pay the license, some of them only carrying a few passengers incidentally and not being aware that it was a license due the Government. Refusal to pay after notice has been given many mean a fine.

The usual death rate in Kentucky is 4,000, he said, but in 1918 there were 15,000 deaths.

He also advised the creation of county health departments, in charge of trained doctors, who will devote their entire time to this work.

The purpose of the State Health Board, he said, is not merely to multiply the county offices, but to place men in charge of the county who have proved they can really economically and effectively reduce the sick and death rate in that county.

The Red Cross course is being given at the university to train nurses for duty should there be an outbreak. The lack of nurses to help during the influenza epidemic last fall cost many lives in Kentucky, it is held.

MEETING AT BEECHWOOD PARK

The members of the Christian Church are planning to take their evening meal together at Beechwood park on Thursday evening. The weekly prayer meeting of this church will be held at the park from 7:30 to 8 on that same evening. The officers of the church are expected to have a meeting following the prayer and praise service. It is expected that many of the members of the church will be present to enjoy this fellowship together.

FERRY WHISTLE DRAWS CROWDS TO RIVER

About noon today a large crowd of people were called to the river bank by the shrill tooting of the whistle of the Ferry Lanrance. Many thought it a distress whistle but it developed that the ferry was endeavoring to call back a Cincinnati packet which was just turning the river bend below the city. Although the ferry called loudly and long, the packet did not respond.

FLEMING MAY HAVE HEALTH NURSE

PLEADS GUILTY TO STRIKING AGED MAN; PAYS HEAVY FINE

Murphysville Man Enters Plea of Guilty to Breach of the Peace Fine and Asks That Charge Against Merchant Be Dismissed.

Everett Lee Clift, of Murphysville, who was arrested Sunday evening on a charge of Breach of the Peace when he is said to have struck Mr. J. J. Crawford, aged Murphysville merchant in an argument which followed the merchant's refusal to sell the young man a supply of lemon extract, has entered a plea of guilty to the charge in Squire Bauer's Court. A fine of twenty-five dollars was registered against Clift which he promptly paid.

At Clift's instance a warrant had been issued against Mr. Crawford, the aged merchant, charging him with carrying concealed a deadly weapon. It is said that in the struggle which ensued at the Crawford store on Sunday night, a revolver fell from the dealer's pocket onto the pike. This case was to have been called before Squire Bauer this afternoon but upon the request of Clift, the chief prosecuting witness, this case was dismissed.

Many were disappointed that the case did not come to trial for they were anxious to hear the evidence that might be brought out in the trials. It is said that bootlegging is in progress around Murphysville every Sunday and the good citizens of that community have made much complaint about the behavior of young men there on Sunday. The matter did not uncover itself at this trial but the officers are determined to go to the bottom of the case and will investigate further.

KINGS DETHRONED FOR LESS

The following statement by United States Senator Albert B. Fall was given out through the Republican Publicity Association:

"You ask me, as one of those who signed the statement made by certain Senators on March 4th, to the effect that the League covenants as then drafted should not be accepted, whether in my judgment the present League covenants should be accepted by the United States; and, second, whether consideration of the covenants by the Senate should be separated from the consideration of the Peace Treaty and reserved for discussion after the Treaty itself has been considered.

"Without any hesitation or mental reservation I will say that, in my judgment, the proposed League covenants should never be accepted by the United States. On Monday, June 30th, I expressed myself fully in the Senate of the United States upon this subject.

"I am perfectly willing, if a majority of my fellow citizens so desire, to have the United States enter a League or parliament for the discussion of international questions.

"I am perfectly willing to enter into an international agreement for codifying as nearly as possible international law and I would be willing even to create a great international court for passing upon international law questions.

"The questions naturally to be considered for the codification of international law, of course, as any international lawyer knows, would be the arrangement in written form of the natural, necessary, voluntary laws of nations which have always been recognized in times of peace and expected to be enforced in times of war, together with such international agreements as have been entered into at the Hague and other meetings of this kind.

"Further than this, we might enter into a league, as I have suggested, for the purpose of discussing various questions arising under international law, as it exists, or as it might be codified, and we might agree to submit any questions of dispute between ourselves and any other nation to a court for decision under the rules of international law; and we might agree to submit any other questions in dispute between ourselves and any other nation to the decision of such court, reserving always, of course, the American policy of self-defense for our own determination as occasion arises and insisting upon recognition of the fact that the Monroe Doctrine is a declaration of such right and that in its application to this hemisphere our interpretation of it will never be questioned by any other nation with which we are associated in any such league or parliament.

"The American doctrine means self-defense—the doctrine of the United States—and when we allow it to be brought in question or challenged, we reserve to ourselves the right to act exactly as we please and unhampered by any obligations or agreements with any other nation whatsoever, either as to the interpretation or application of the doctrine when occasion arises.

Our entry into the present League deprives us of the right of national self-defense, which is just as sacred to a nation as is the right of personal self-defense to an individual and more so. Yet individual right of self-defense may be offered in excuse or justification in any court in any civilized country, where the charge even is the taking of human life.

"If we enter this League, no such defense could be made if we, in what we believed to be necessary self-defense against sudden and unprovoked attack, used our own means in our own way to prevent or repel such an attack, but would be compelled to await the action and approval of other nations not in accord with us in religion, political theory, or form of government, alien to us in race and prejudiced against us, as is practically all the world today."

WILSON SURRENDERED TO JAP AMBASSADOR

Island Kingdom Made Promise to China Agreeing to Accept But Not Give.

Washington.—How President Wilson surrendered to Baron Makino of the Japanese delegation at Versailles, on the subject of the Shantung peninsula, is told by one of the newspaper correspondents who has just returned.

Ray Stannard Baker, the magazine writer, appointed head of the press bureau of the American delegation, made the following statement after consultation with the President: "All rights in Kiaochow and the Shantung province formerly belonging to Germany are to be transferred without reservation to Japan. Japan voluntarily engages to hand back the Shantung peninsula in full sovereignty to China, retaining only the economic privileges granted to Germany and the right to establish a settlement at Tsingtau. The owners of the railroads will use special police only to secure security for traffic. The police force will be composed of Chinese, and such Japanese instructors as the directors of the railroads may select will be appointed by the Chinese government. Japan thus gets only such rights as an economic concessionaire as are possessed by one or two other great powers, and the whole future relationship between the two countries falls at once under the guarantee of the league of nations in regard to territorial integrity and political independence."

"Naturally," the correspondent continues, "it immediately occurred to me to ask if Japan had made a specific pledge, embodying this pledge stated by Baker. 'Yes,' I was told, 'Japan has made this pledge.' 'It is in writing?' 'Yes, it is in writing.' 'Signed?' 'I believe so, yes, it is signed.' If true that was important. I hurried over to the Hotel Bristol in Paris, the headquarters of the Japanese delegation, and confirmed my previous suspicion that the reported compromise and pledge were non-existent in fact. Wilson had enunciated to Baron Makino.

In the drafting of the Shantung articles the Chinese were not consulted. Originally there were just two articles written in French. It was not until two days after the text was in the hands of the drafting committee, to be put into final shape in both French and English, that the Chinese managed to obtain a copy, sun rosa.

That was hardly gracious or friendly treatment. Officially the Chinese continued in the dark until their delegates appeared the afternoon before the presentation of the treaty to Germany. The peacemakers of the West went out of their way to snub a full fourth of humanity."

CANNING COMPOUNDS HARMFUL TO HEALTH

Housewives Warned Against the Use of These Trade Substances and Preserving Powders.

Washington, D. C.—Canning compounds sold under various trade names for use in home canning are often harmful to health and should never be used by housewives, say the specialists of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture. These preparations, which are usually in powdered form and contain salicylic acid or boric acid, are unnecessary since fruits and vegetables can be kept for long periods in perfect condition without any chemical preservatives whatever if proper methods of canning are followed.

The Federal Food and Drugs Act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives if foods which come within the State of foods which have been preserved with harmful substances. Although neither the Federal or State laws apply to foods canned in the home and consumed there, it would seem that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she preserves for her family, substances that are prohibited by law in foods for sale because the substances are injurious to health.

The Department of Agriculture has issued bulletins that give specific directions for the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables without the use of preserving powders or canning compounds. These bulletins may be obtained without cost upon application to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

CHAUTAUQUA—THE THINKING MAN'S FESTIVAL

CHAUTAUQUA brings you messages with which to edify your brains.

To exercise one's gray matter is the most pleasurable of all sensations. Thought is the harbinger of all progress. Mental discipline is the guarantee of civilization. The world has always paid its highest tribute to the great thinkers and it always will.

Correct mental habits are of inestimable value in fighting life's battles.

Great lecturers are the bulwark and mainstay of Chautauqua. Every American who thinks in terms of his future, must, as a matter of course, keep posted on current events and the best thought of the times on our great problems.

The war has given us a brand new interest in American and world problems—problems whose wise solution calls for some thinking on the part of public-spirited American men and women. Chautauqua will help every person who sits under the tent and listens to the great addresses by the masters of thought who are coming this summer.

There are eight to appear during the seven-day event.

Long known as "the Gunsaulus of Canada," Dr. James L. Gordon, now pastor of the leading Congregational Church in Washington, D. C., will discuss some of the causes for personal success and what really constitutes genuine success.

The only American survivor of the "Anconia," the ill-fated Italian ship that was torpedoed in the Mediterranean, Dr. Cecile Grieel will bring a stirring lecture on the conditions that exist in Italy where she spent most of the war period as director of one of the hospitals near the Italian front. She is a woman of striking personality, a speaker of rare force and charm.

On the same day we will hear a message from the country we all love, France—a message brought by one of her heroic sons who is a veteran of the first battle of the Marne and a speaker who has appeared before hundreds of American audiences. Lieutenant Jean A.

Picard of the French High Commission to America is the man, and his subject "The Rebuilding of France."

A message from the Far East will be brought by the best posted American on Far Eastern questions, Judge Charles Summer Lobinger, Judge of the United States Court for China at Shanghai. Judge Lobinger has lived in the Far East over sixteen years and besides being a noted jurist, he has been a popular lecturer in the Universities and Colleges of America on his bi-annual trips to his home country and is an educator and author of note. "China and the Far East" is his subject; it is difficult to conceive of a more interesting subject for Americans just now.

In these times when epidemics of pneumonia sweep over the world and when we have just learned how one of them—the influenza epidemic and its consequent pneumonia—has killed nine times as many Americans as there were American soldiers and marines killed in the world war, the subject of personal and community health becomes very important.

By thousands of Chautauquans in America agreeing to co-operate with the American National Red Cross this subject will be covered very thoroughly this summer. Miss Edith Ambrose will speak here on "Keeping the Home Town Healthy."

Everybody will be glad to welcome the lecturer who was the sensational success last summer: Dr. Frank Bohn, world traveller and student of affairs. Immediately after finishing his lecturing on the Chautauqua Circuit last summer, he was sent on an official mission to Switzerland and before his return to America visited France, Italy, and England to report after-theater conditions in those countries. With a wonderful fund of new information, he will discuss "Revolutionary Europe"—a theme fully worthy of Dr. Bohn's extraordinary ability.

One of the most widely known speakers comes from Australia: Senator Tom Skeyhill, known in England and Australia as "the Poet of the Tropics."

The late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, with whom he spoke on several occasions, said of him "that he is the greatest speaker developed by the war"—high praise indeed. In England he created a furor, speaking in support of the Conscription Bill in such noteworthy company as Lloyd George, Balfour, Churchill, Asquith and others. In this country he spoke at large patriotic meetings with President Wilson, Roosevelt, Taft, Elihu Root, Secretary Daniels and nearly a score of others. He's not a war lecturer, although he saw war on four fronts.

Perhaps the most widely known lecturer of Chautauqua week is Judge Bert B. Lindsey, often weighed there and civilized. He has recently returned from Europe where he spent some months studying the effect of the war on the children of the Allied countries. His subject "Why Kids Lie" will attract every man, woman, and child in this community.

When an institution brings to any community in the course of a week such an array of noted authorities on topics of interest, it is not to be wondered that public-spirited men and women work for the coming of the Chautauqua.

The musical and entertainment features are of equal calibre.

The Stories The Dewdrops Told

COMPANION CROPS—"THE GARDEN ALLIES"

"I am so glad that Dolly and her brothers get along so well together," said Mothermine. "I simply couldn't stand it if they quarreled all the time as some children do. I think it makes Billy more manly to have two younger ones to look after sometimes; and both the boys feel that they must take special care of their little sister."

Mothermine was talking to a neighbor who had come in to see her. The neighbor had said something about some children she knew who were very cross to one another. Sometimes—so the neighbor said—they even slapped faces!

"I wonder if the plants ever quarrel," thought Dolly. She had been talking so much with the plants that she thought a great deal about them.

"Tomorrow morning when I go into the garden I will ask the first Dewdrop Fairy I see about it," said Dolly to herself.

The first Fairy she saw was one she had not met before. She was dressed in a frock of light green—a very pretty shade it was, too. It was ruffled from the wrist to the hem. The ruffles were a little crinkled. They were, so Dolly thought, very lovely.

The Fairy had a bright little face, too. She spread all her ruffles out and made Dolly a grand courtesy—the kind you are taught to make in dancing school. Dolly tried to make one, too; but her legs were rather fat and very short, so her courtesy was not as graceful as that of the Fairy.

"What did you say you were going to ask me?" said the Fairy.

Now, wasn't that strange? Dolly hadn't said a word, and yet here was the Fairy talking just as if she had spoken.

"Oh, I was just thinking," said Dolly. "That I should like to know if the plants ever quarrel."

"Well, not exactly, what you would call quarrel," said the Fairy. Of course, we don't like to be imposed upon, but still we get along very well. Some of us are so happy together that we are called 'Companion' crops."

"How funny," said Dolly. "Why do they call you that?"

"It is because two or three kinds of vegetables can be grown in the same rows," explained the light-green Fairy.

"Oh, please tell me about it," cried Dolly. "That must be fine; it saves so much ground."

"That is a very sensible remark, Dolly," said the Fairy. "That is exactly what it does. You see, for instance, cabbages are rather large plants when they are grown. If the gardener manages nicely he can raise cabbage, and radishes, and lettuce all together."

"He can plant one right on top of the other, can he?" said Dolly.

"Oh, no. This is the way. You see most gardeners plant cabbages seed in the fall and keep them in boxes through the winter. Then in the spring they have roots big enough to plant. They should be set in rows about 3 feet apart. Then, about 10 inches from the cabbages he should plant radish seeds, quite early in the spring."

"Oh, I know the Radish Fairy. He was the first Fairy I saw after I met the Queen. He told me a lot. But he didn't say anything about being planted with the cabbages."

"Perhaps he wasn't. It doesn't always happen that way. But let me tell you some more. After the radishes are planted, then, about half way between the two, some lettuce seeds should be planted—or lettuce plants set out."

"Oh," cried the little girl; "I know you now—you are the Lettuce Fairy. I see now why you wear that pretty green frock with the ruffles."

"Thanks for liking my dress—I rather fancy it myself," said the Fairy. "But I should like to tell you about the 'companions.' You see, there is plenty of room to hoe and weed between the plants without disturbing them. The radishes ripen first. They are pulled up and sent to the table."

"They taste so good," said Dolly. "I had the first ones from the garden and I would have eaten the whole dish full if Mothermine had let me."

"When they are out of the way, then comes my turn," said the Fairy.

"It takes them about four or five weeks to ripen. Then in about a month or so, I am ready for salad."

"You surely do make good salad," said Dolly. "We had some yesterday for dinner and Fatherbob said lettuce was one of the most wholesome—and some other word I don't remember—vegetables. Any way it meant that everybody ought to eat lettuce—I know that much about it."

"Well, you see hoy it is, then," said the Fairy. "By the time the cabbage gets large enough to need the room we are all out of the way, and it can grow as big as it likes. Don't you think 'companion' crops are pretty good things?"

"Yes indeed I do. And thank you very much for telling me about them," said Dolly.

And that afternoon when Billy and Bob, Dolly's brothers, who were among the very first to form a company of the United States School Garden Army, came home from school, the little girl told them all she had learned about "Companion Crops."

"Companion crops are the 'Garden Allies,'" said Bob. Then he told Dolly that in the Spring Manual of the United States School Garden Army, there were printed the names of some of the Companion Crops. Bob had learned that some vegetables grow tall, and others near the ground, so that corn and pumpkins may be grown together, and corn and beans. Then he spoke of cabbage and lettuce and radishes.

But he is a soldier of the United States School Garden Army you know about this. And if you have not enlisted you should ask your teacher to tell you how to join this great army.

NATIONALIZATION MADE EASY

Washington.—In order to expedite the work of making the country 100 per cent American, Representative John Jacob Rogers, of Massachusetts, a Republican, has introduced in the House a bill to facilitate the naturalization of all persons who served in the military or naval forces of the United States since April 6, 1917, and who have been or may hereafter be honorably discharged.

The measure states that any such soldier shall be eligible for admission to citizenship upon production before any court having competent jurisdiction in naturalization matters of his honorable discharge paper, or duly authenticated certificate in lieu thereof, upon satisfactory proof of his identity and taking the oath prescribed by law. It declares further that no clerk of a United States court shall charge or collect any naturalization or any other fee from such person, and that no clerk of any state court shall be allowed to do so. No soldier will be required to show the date of arrival in this country.

Of the many kidney demedies on the market today, none other is recommended than Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty thousand benefited people gladly testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 50,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Maysville sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Maysville case. Don't expost. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

Ben P. Fleming, constable of Mason County, 217 East Lee Street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years, getting them at Wood & Son's Drug Store, and they have been of great benefit. At times, my kidneys have been out of order and I have suffered from a dull, constant ache through the small of my back. The kidney secretions have been irregular in passage, too. A box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to relieve me of the complaint in a short time."

KILLED SISTER-IN-LAW AND SURRENDERED SELF

Indiana Man Enraged Because Wife
Had Left Him, Shoots Her
Sister to Death.

Petersburg, Ind., July 16.—Blythe Lamb, 33, son of William Lamb, a wealthy farmer of this county, is under arrest in connection with the death of Mrs. John Richrich, his sister-in-law. Lamb, distressed over the fact that his wife, Beulah Lamb, left him and went to the home of Mrs. Richrich, went there yesterday, and, when the mother-in-law and sister-in-law refused to tell him where his wife was, a dispute ensued. Mrs. Richrich struck Lamb over the head with a poker, inflicting a wound.

Lamb, the police say, returned to his automobile, secured an automatic pistol and shot the woman five times. One bullet penetrated her heart. Lamb drove home, had his wound dressed and then surrendered. The dead woman, who was 29, left a husband and two children. She was formerly Gertrude Helpenbine of Waverly, Ohio.

HERDS CONTINUING

The government expert who has been in Maysville for two weeks is continuing the work of inspecting Mason county dairy herds. He will probably finish his work this week and his findings will be awaited with interest.

BROWN COUNTY SOCIETY
PLANS BIG OUTING

Brown County Society of Cincinnati members voted Tuesday evening to give their annual outing at the Zoo, August 9. Inadvertently the price of admittance on the tickets was not printed, and it was announced the tickets will cost 25 cents each.

Master John Wunder will entertain a number of his friends this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Welch of East Second street.

AN OPEN LETTER

Irvine, Ky., July 14, 1919.
To Hazard Herald,
Hazard, Ky.

In your issue of June 19th, you make mention of the fact that certain candidates for Railroad Commissioner in the Third District had withdrawn in favor of Mr. Eversole, and in this article you intimate that Judge Allen Cisco and I should go to work and have our brothers Clay Cisco and E. C. Kash withdraw.

You also say that "Mr. Cisco and Mr. Kash were requested to attend the candidates meeting but did not do so." I am writing to advise you that E. C. Kash was not advised of any such meeting, and I was not advised of it, and no one was advised of it until after it happened. I am informed by Judge Cisco that he had no notice of it. It was a well known fact that my brother was a candidate at that time, and also that Mr. Cisco was a candidate. Therefore, it cannot be said that E. C. Kash is in any wise bound by the action of a meeting to which he was not a party and of which he had no notice.

At the State Convention at Lexington a Ninth District man, J. L. McCoy, was a candidate for Secretary of State, and he withdrew in favor of Judge Fred Vaughan of Paintsville in the Tenth District. The Ninth District has no candidate on the State ticket. The Ninth district has more counties in this Railroad Commissioner district than any other Congressional district.

We are entirely in the interest of party harmony. We are in the fight primarily to help the Republican ticket in November, and this we expect to do. My brother E. C. Kash has always been an active and consistent supporter of the Republican party and its candidates and will continue to be.

We are willing to leave it to the publicans of this entire Railroad Commission district as to who their candidate shall be.

Yours truly,
KELLY KASH.

Riley is survived by his wife and nine children. It is thought that financial trouble was the cause of his act.

RUGGLES CAMPMEETING OPENS ONE WEEK FROM THURSDAY

Program Arranged Is Bigger and Better Than Ever With Strong Speakers and a Good Time Assured.

One week from tomorrow, Thursday, July 24th, Ruggles Campmeeting begins. There is unusual interest shown this year in anticipation of this, which because of so many of our Maysville people being interested in it, might be termed our home campmeeting. Every cottage and room on the grounds has been rented. The only chance now is to get hotel accommodations or for some one to give up their cottage at the last minute, which is very improbable. There is no doubt but that the people appreciate the efforts of the Board of Directors to secure the best talent possible. This has truly been the case this year. The fact that Dr. Bunton is to be at the camp for the full time, preaching each evening, is proving an immensely popular move. Dr. Bunton will not only fill his part as evangelist but being so popular especially he helps everybody in the camp have a good time. There's always "something doing" when Bunton is around.

Then there is J. B. Mahaffey, the brilliant young preacher from Covington, who is to lead the young people's meetings. And, by the way, his District Superintendent has offered him certain stipulations if he would get married before coming to campmeeting. Just why has not been told but we are led to believe that this young, bachelor preacher is immensely popular with the young folks. Just watch the young people's meetings boom this year.

And the little children. There never was a finer place for the "kiddies" than Ruggles Campgrounds. Just turn 'em loose and they will have a good time. No danger of getting lost or injured. Don't have to be "dressed up" all the time. Just go around comfortable. Once a day an hour has been set apart for the little ones with the finest leader that could be found to entertain and instruct them. Miss Virginia Hurd has had unusual success with children. Coming fresh from a three weeks' visit to the great Methodist Centenary she will be prepared as never before to lead them in the greatest meetings they have ever had. To see the annual parade of over hundred of the children all decked out for the occasion is one of the campmeeting treats.

Many are wondering who T. B. Ashley, the singer is. Well he is one of the liveliest young preachers in the conference. And those who have seen him lead singing say he will certainly "deliver the goods" at Ruggles. Being an entire stranger at Ruggles his coming will be looked for with anxious anticipation.

And so on, and so on. Every phase of the religious part of the campmeeting has been well looked after.

The social side of the campmeeting is always pleasant. Many people do a year's visiting during the eleven days of campmeeting. It is so convenient to mingle with your friends from day to day. For the younger set it will be a year of great rejoicing. Last year most of the boys were gone, many of them overseas. There was a dearth of boys at the campmeeting much to the regret of the girls. But now they are all back and there will be one grand reunion during campmeeting. What delightful times they are all expecting. The recreational side will be a special feature. Let every body prepare for a great campmeeting.

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

Woman's power in America is well illustrated by the thousands of women who entered almost every line of business to replace men who were drafted during the war. Health proved their strongest asset. Many women, however, developed weak, nervous conditions and could not stand the strain of a business life. Such women should remember there is one tried and true remedy in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for forty-five years has been restoring health and strength to the women of America.

BURLEY LOOSE LEAF HOUSES MAY GO TO LOCAL CORPORATION

New Plan For Operation of 15 Warehouses Owned by Old Burley Company May Be Adopted—Factory Sale Opposed.

Loose leaf tobacco warehouses owned by the Burley Tobacco Company at fifteen points in Kentucky will probably be taken over by local corporations organized by the stockholders at each of these points. It was said at a meeting of the board of directors of the company held at Lexington Tuesday. Such action does not mean that the Burley Company will pass out of existence or be weakened, but merely that fifteen counties will organize Burley companies, instead of the one now doing business, it was pointed out.

The various properties have been a success and profitable, it was said, but it is the belief that separate local corporations can make greater profits, while their officers can devote their entire time to the business of their particular localities, where such companies will prove greater drawing powers for patronage. The prospects of the Burley Company were never brighter and the contemplated change is expected to have a wholesome and beneficial effect, according to the board members.

The board was called together to confirm the sale of the factory plant at Louisville to R. J. Reynolds Company on June 27. The sale was approved, and the board directed that the deed be made to the purchasing company pursuant to the contract which was made through the executive committee.

In discussing the future policy of the company with reference to the continuation of the various loose leaf warehouses, Clarence Lebus, president of the company, said the movement to have them taken over by local corporations was receiving serious consideration by the directors and officers of the company, and might result in the organization of such corporations to which the properties would be conveyed if a fair valuation could be agreed upon.

The record of the management of the warehouses by the company has shown very great profits, he said. Some of these warehouses were originally purchased for storage purposes and were afterwards converted into loose leaf warehouses for sale purposes, he said, while entirely new buildings have been erected at other points especially adapted for the loose leaf sales business.

The warehouses are located at Lexington, Cynthiana, Frankfort, Shelbyville, Horse Cave, Harrodsburg, Carrollton, Pleasureville, Dry Ridge, Williamsburg, Falmouth, Augusta, Brooksville, Carlisle and Flemingsburg.

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO PREVENT EXECUTION

Frankfort, Ky., July 16.—After a careful examination of the record in the case of Lube Martin, under sentence of death for killing Guthrie Duguid, a policeman at Murray, Governor Black Tuesday refused to interfere with the judgment of the court. Martin will be electrocuted at sunrise July 25. In declining to commute the death sentence Governor Black said:

"It is and has been my inclination to give due credit to the actions and conclusions of our Courts of Justice, and I feel that I have no authority to stay beyond the 25th day of July, the execution of the death sentence against Lube Martin."

HIGHER PRICES FOR BREAD ARE SEEN

The Price Europe Will Pay Over Minimum Wheat Price Will Determine Local Market.

The Cincinnati Times-Star today says: "Whether there will be an increase in the price of bread in Cincinnati and other American cities will depend on what price Europe is willing to pay for the new wheat being harvested in the United States," said L. H. Brandewie, president of the Bannier Baking company, Wednesday, when asked concerning the advance of bread at Springfield, Ohio, from 9½ cents to 10 cents. "Bread is retailed, and has been for some time, at Cincinnati and most other cities for 8½ cents for it—but there is scarcely any profit for it, flour will advance and an increase in the price of bread would be the natural result. It remains to be seen what price the foreign buyers are going to pay."

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Hillsdale School will give an Ice Cream Supper at the school building Wednesday, July 16th, at 8 o'clock. Proceeds to be used in paying off painting debt. All friends are asked to come.
